

REFERENCE	BT_2011_FR20_3_UK
DATE	1st February, 2011
SUBJECT	Pagid brake pads, engine cover allowed modification, engine rebuilding modification
PART	Brake pads, engine cover, engine

1. New brake pads

A new type of brake pad is introduced for 2011 season. These specific brake pads from Pagid are now available from your Renault Sport spare parts department under the reference 77 11 166 677.

The brake behaviour is slightly different from the Ferodo brake pads and their lifetime is longer.

A set of Pagid brake pads costs 153.43€ excl. VAT.

Note: only Ferodo (ref. 77 11 166 277) and Pagid (ref. 77 11 166 677) brake pads proposed by Renault Sport will be allowed for 2011 season. They come with a specific marking.

2. Engine cover allowed modification

It is allowed to remove the ears at the back of the engine cover. The part you can remove on both side of the engine cover is shown below:

View from right side of the engine cover

3. Engine service

Renault Sport reminds you that a Formula Renault 2.0 engine must be rebuilt every 5,500km. No engine failures occurring after 5,500km will be taken in charge by Renault Sport.

Cracks have been found into some cylinder blocks, after more than 5,500km. These cracks are due to the fact that this engine has not been originally designed to be a frame engine.

Therefore, Renault Sport chose to integrate a cylinder block to the standard engine rebuildings, every 5,500km.

There is no modification to the engine rebuilding prices.